- Compliantly build and maintain strong professional relationships with physicians/HCP's, office staff, and others in the patient care continuum.
- Actively contribute to the launch of our new first-in-class brand, FORZINITYTM, for Barth Syndrome.
- Develop and maintain a regional business plan in alignment with corporate goals and objectives; translate national strategies into a regional sales approach; manage data streams in support of account management activities across a geographic area.
- As a subject matter expert, develop a deep understanding of Barth Syndrome, mitochondrial disease, Stealth products and approved indications, the patient journey, and regional market needs.
- Identify business opportunities to expand market access through approved internal resources and Patient Support Services.
- Participate in regional and national professional society meetings, as needed, to educate potential customers on brand awareness, disease state, and specialty pharmacy.
- Provide input and collaborate with internal stakeholders on disease awareness, sales tools, messaging, diagnosis, and treatment education needs and adhere to company policies and guidelines.
- Document sales calls and transfer of Value activities in applicable systems in compliance with Stealth requirements.

Competencies:

- Results-oriented self-starter with a demonstrated record of success.
- Excellent communicator (oral, written, presentation) and relationship builder with the ability to establish professional relationships with HCP's and staff, tailor discussions and presentations to meet specific audience needs.
- Highly adaptable approaches challenges with a problem-solving mindset.
- Collaborative team player with strong multitasking, problem-solving, and adaptability skills.
- Ability to develop and execute a regional business plan that exceeds sales objectives.
- Ability to understand new therapeutic areas; exceptional business and payer acumen in rare disease space.
- Strong alignment to corporate values; patient/customer centric mindset.
- Ability to utilize various data streams to drive account management plans.
- Experience managing a larger geography.

Requirements:

- Bachelor's degree with a minimum of 8 years biotech or pharma sales experience including previous experience in launching a new product, clinical acumen in selling a rare disease specialty product(s), business and payer acumen in rare disease.
